

Rishi Bankim Chandra Evening College
Course outcomes or Learning outcome
Three year B.A Degree course
Under CBCS Semester System
HONOURS COURSE IN POLITICAL SCIENCE
With effect from the session 2018- 2019

Course name: Core course- 1

Course code: PLSACOR01T

Topic name: Understanding Political Theory

Course outcome:

- (1) Students will understand political theory, its history and approaches very clearly.
- (2) Political theory will help students to assess of its critical and contemporary trends.
- (3) A very important aspect of political Science among students is to be aware of the interpretation of the state and politics.
- (4) The topic is very useful in developing political knowledge.
- (5) Studying political subjects makes it easy and logical for students to study other subjects of political Science.

Course name: Core course- 2

Course code: PLSACOR02T

Topic name: Constitutional Government and Democracy in India

Course outcome:

- (1) This part introduces students to the constitutional design of state structures and institutions and their actual working overtime.
- (2) This topic encourages and Introduction to the mutual interact of the state institutions and the wider constitutional environment.
- (3) Fundamental right are very necessary right for personality development, so it is very important to know it.
- (4) State directive politics aim to create social and economic conditions and establish social and economic democracy through citizen leadership and good life and a welfare state.

Course name: Core course- 3

Course code: PLSACOR03T

Topic name: Political Theory- Concepts and Debates

- (1) This topic introduces students to familiarize with its basic normative concepts of political theory.

- (2) This topic encourages critical and reflective analysis systems and its interpretation of social practices.
- (3) This topic introduces students to important issues of debate.

Course name: Core course- 4

Course code: PLSACOR04T

Topic name: Political Process in India

- (1) By reading this topic, students can map the working of modern organizations.
- (2) Studying this topic develops students unbiased thinking about separatism, religion, caste and women's rights and introduces students to the work of various Indian states in this regard.
- (3) By reading this topic, students can understand the contradictory dynamics of modern state power.

Course name: Core course- 5

Course code: PLSACOR05T

Topic name: Introduction to Comparative Government and Politics

Course outcome:

- (1) By reading comparative politics, students gain knowledge about the basic concepts of comparative method and its effectiveness.
- (2) By reading this topic, students can learn about political systems, political parties, constitutional structures and political culture of different countries of the world.
- (3) Students can point out the advantages and disadvantages of the constitutional framework and express their own views on the political system of their own country.

Course name: Core course- 6

Course code: PLSACOR06T

Topic name: Perspectives on Public Administration

- (1) This topic provides an Introduction to the discipline of public administration.
- (2) This topic gives light on various classical and contemporary issues in the historical context of public administration.
- (3) This topic discusses some recent trends including feminism, environmental conservation, and how the call for greater democratization is reshaping public administration.
- (4) After this topic, students gain an understanding of the current issues and trends in public administration communications and acquire the knowledge to address the challenges posed by these changes.

Course name: Core course- 7

Course code: PLSACOR07T

Topic name: Perspectives on International Relations and World Politics

(1) This paper seeks to equip students with the basic Intellectual tools for understanding International Relations.

(2) It introduces students to some of the most important theoretical approaches for studying international relations. The course begins by historically contextualizing the evolution of the international state system, then the students are introduced to different theories in international relations.

(3) It provides a fairly comprehensive overview of the major political developments and events starting from the twentieth century. Students are expected to learn about the key milestones in world history and equip them with the tools to understand and analyse some from different perspectives.

(4) A key objective of the course is to make students aware of the implicit euro- centrism of international relations by highlighting certain specific perspectives from the global south.

Course name: Core course- 8

Course code: PLSACOR08T

Topic name: Political Process and Institutions in Comparative Perspective

(1) Students will be trained to apply comparative method to the study of politics.

(2) Students are given a comparative education of what to study and how to study.

(3) Students will understand the Issues, methods and literature related to the drawing of comparative politics.

Course name: Core course- 9

Course code: PLSACOR09T

Topic name: Public Policy and Administration in India

(1) Understands the interface between public policy and administration in India.

(2) Understands the issues of citizens, administration, decentralization, financial management, social welfare, governing philosophy from non- western perspective.

(3) Understands translation of governing philosophy and principles into policies and programmes.

Course name: Core course- 10

Course code: PLSACOR10T

Topic name: Global Politics

- (1) Students are introduced to key debates on the meaning and nature of globalization.
- (2) Students will understand the global economic system and analyze its changing relationship with states and non-state actors.
- (3) Students gain knowledge about contemporary key global issues.

Course name: Core course- 11

Course code: PLSACOR11T

Topic name: Classical Political Philosophy

- (1) This topic introduces students to key debates and concepts in political philosophy.
- (2) This topic provides an introduction to political thought process and theory making in western countries.
- (3) Beginning with the Greek political thinkers, this topic introduces the students to the richness and variety of political ideas of western thinkers.

Course name: Core course- 12

Course code: PLSACOR12T

Topic name: Indian Political Thought- 1

- (1) This topic introduces students to specific elements of Indian political thought spanning from ancient times.
- (2) The main focus of the study of this topic is the many individual ideas are framed by specific themes.
- (3) This topic provides students with an insight into the detailed flow of Indian thought as a whole as well as a specific thought of individual thinkers.

Course name: Core course- 13

Course code: PLSACOR13T

Topic name: Modern Political Philosophy

- (1) Students gain knowledge about the intersection between philosophy and politics.
- (2) Students are introduced to feminist thinkers' thoughts on women rights, education and social respect and opposition to patriarchal society.
- (3) Students are exposed to western thinkers reflecting on modern thinking from liberal, social and radical concepts.

Course name: Core course- 14

Course code: PLSACOR14T

Topic name: Indian Political Thought- 2

- (1) Define modernity in Indian political thought and students gain knowledge about the political thought of Indian thinkers.
- (2) Students are exposed to the constructive thinking of thinkers from different social and temporal contexts.
- (3) Understand the relevance of these thinkers and the importance of their thinking in the present day.

Rishi Bankim Chandra Evening
College Course Outcome or Learning
Outcome Three years B.A/B.Sc degree
course Under the CBCS semester system
GENERAL COURSE IN POLITICAL SCIENCE
The effect of the session: 2018- 2019

Course Name: Generic Elective/Discipline-Specific Core Course - 1

Course Code: PLSHGEC01T/PLSGCOR01T

Topic Name: Introduction to Political Theory

Course Outcome:

- 1) Students will understand political theory, its history and approaches very clearly.
- 2) Political theory is the main entrance to political science for students.
- 3) There are various perspectives on the interpretation of state and politics which is very necessary for students of political science.
- 4) Concept of politics is created by reading about political theory and this part is very important in the development of political knowledge.
- 5) After reading political theory, studying other topics of political science has become easy and logical for students.

Course Name: Generic Elective/Discipline-Specific Core Course - 2

Course Name: PLSHGEC02T/ PLSGCOR02T

Topic Name: Indian Government and Politics

Course Outcome: 1) Understanding the Constitution of India, the state structure, and its functioning.

2) Understanding the interaction of the state with a larger extra-Constitutional environment.

3) Understanding the Judicial system to protect the public interest and protect the law of the Constitution.

Course Name: Generic Elective/ Discipline- Specific Core Course -3

Course Code: PLSHGEO3T/ PLSGCOR03T

Topic Name: Comparative Government and Politics

Course Outcome: 1) This is the basic course of comparative political study. Comparative politics is the systematic study and comparison of the different political systems in the world. It is compared in search to explain why different political systems have similarities or differences and how developmental changes came to be between them.

2) Students may get a comparative idea between different socioeconomic systems.

3) This course prologue to students with the different constitutional frameworks and political-economic systems of different countries.

Course Name: Generic Elective/Discipline-specific Core Course - 4

Course Code: PLSHGEC04T/ PLSGCOR04T

Topic Name: Introduction to International Relations

Course Outcome: 1) Equips the students with the basic intellectual tools to understand international relations.

2) Learn to analyze the world political system and its development, also an application of the theoretical tool to understand the order of world politics.

Course Name: Discipline-Specific Elective - 1

Course Code: PLSGDSE01T

Topic Name: Reading Gandhi

Course Outcome:1) This course is specifically designed on Mahatma Gandhi's thoughts and philosophy. This course focused on the specific elements of the Indian political scenario during the nationalist movement and how it was influenced by Gandhian thought and philosophy.

2) In the present socio-political context, the relevance of Gandhian thought of Nonviolence, Satyagraha, Ram Rajya, and Good Governance can be understood through the study. Gandhian philosophy helps one to be a good citizen in the future.

Course Name: Discipline-Specific Elective- 2

Course Code: PLSGDSE02T

Topic Name: Women, Power, and Politics

Course Outcome:1) This course is specially designed for the feminist perspective in political science study. It's theorizing the sex/gender difference and various social constructivism.

2) In Different schools of study in feminism students will understand the chronology of feminism and its socio-political impact.

3) With various types of feminist movements students will understand the socioeconomic position of women in India and other countries.

Course Name: Discipline-Specific Elective - 3

Course Code: PLSGDSE03T

Topic Name: Understanding Global Politics

Course Outcome: 1) It helped the students to understand that the key issue in international politics is national interest and power. Each state is constantly engaged in pursuing its interests or increasing power. Any state is not self-sufficient in commodities. All are dependent on each other for defense assistance, technical assistance, and many others.

2) It helped the students to understand what determines the relationship between different countries. How the relationship changes over time, and how small regional events become a global issue. From human rights to terrorism, human security to refugee issues, all issues build students' participation and judgment of International Relations.

3) it introduces students to the key debates on the meaning and nature of globalization by addressing political and economic, social, and technical dimensions.

Course Name: Generic Elective Course (GE)- 1

Course Code: PLSGGEC01T

Topic Name: Human Rights in a Comparative Perspective

Course Outcome: 1) Understanding the basic concepts, nature, and importance of Human Rights also develops awareness about the importance of human rights in life.

2) Helps to analyze the different dimensions and challenges of human rights.

Course Name: Generic Elective Course(GE)- 2

Course Code: PLSGGEC02T

Topic Name: Governance, issues, and Challenges

Course Outcome: 1) Understanding the fundamental principles, functions, ideas, and motivation, challenging situations of democratic good governance.

2) Understanding the importance of Green Governance.

3) Understand the relationship between citizens and governance.